

Online Training Programme on Solar Thermal Technologies - Performance Evaluation and their Applications

Date: 26th – 27th August, 2021 (Online Mode)

National Institute of Solar Energy

Gwal Pahari, Gurugram-Faridabad Road,
Gurugram, Haryana - 122003

Background

Solar energy, the most abundant natural resource is easily capable of providing many times the total current energy demand. India is endowed with vast solar energy potential about 5,000 trillion kWh per year energy is incident over land area with most parts receiving 3-5 kWh per sq.m per day. Solar energy can be directly used for generating electricity as well as for heating and cooling requirements. Solar thermal technologies can be used for fulfilling domestic and industrial heating and cooling requirements viz. solar water heaters, space heaters etc.

In the recent years, innovative solar thermal technologies have come up to support and fulfill the requirements of agriculture and farm sector, such as drying of fruits and vegetables using solar dryer, preserving fruits and vegetables in a solar powered cold storage, cooling of milk using a solar powered milk cooler etc. Thermal energy storage technology is also used to store energy in cooling form for fulfilling the needs during non-solar hours.
